Syracuse International Airport Offers Tips to Winter Break Travelers

Syracuse, New York – Syracuse International Airport is preparing for increased passenger volume over the next week, as local schools break for mid-winter recess. Anticipated increase in passenger volume departure days include February 16-19, 2017.

We spoke to the airlines and they want to make sure passengers are prepared before they arrive at the airport. Below are some travel tips to avoid unnecessary delays:

- Have a questions regarding what to pack? Visit tsa.gov
- Keep your eyes on the weather and check with your airline before arriving at the airport
- Passengers are encouraged to arrive at least 90-120 minutes prior to their departure time
- Utilize airline smartphone apps or print your boarding pass at home
- Have your ID and boarding pass ready before you enter the line at the security checkpoint

The airport has also recently added a few programs to make your travels a little less stressful:

- Passengers are encouraged to take advantage of ParkSYR for automatic entry/exit to the parking facilities
- Pets Easing Travelers (PET) program therapy dogs will be roaming the airport looking to soothe the stress of passengers
- FuelRod machines are located throughout the terminal. FuelRod devices are reusable, portable charging systems that will provide your electronic device with four hours of usage.
- If you're picking someone up from the airport, please use the Cell Phone Lot while you wait for your guest to arrive
- The airport has a TSA Pre✓® Enrollment Center located in the terminal. While it's too late to sign up if you're traveling this week, sign up soon and enjoy the benefits next time you travel.
