

“The Journey Amongst the Clouds” by Meva Dinc – Fayetteville

I have spent my early childhood growing up in two different countries distant from one another. My third destination stands in Syracuse, New York. Here, I spend my spare time reading classic literature which inspires my writing, devoting myself to painting, and nurturing nature around me.